Who are we?

"Find Raoul" Humanitarian Organization (sr: "Nađi Raula"), was founded in 2011 as a student portal (blog) ran by Jovan Milic, back then a student of Mechanical and technical school "15. May" in Nis. As a boy and even as a high school student, Jovan didn't live a harmonious and peaceful life. In his free time he would read and watch documentaries. He came across an article and later a report on Raoul Wallenberg's work which motivated him so much and he started dreaming about starting a charity organization which will help people from Serbia and whole Balkans. A few years later, his dream came true. Organization was named "Find Raoul" which represents Jovan's dedication and respect for Raoul Wallenberg's humanitarian work which was his huge inspiration. After almost seven years of working within the humanitarian portal, our organization has grown into an official non-governmental organization in Serbia.

Who we are?

Why is our organization symbolically called "Find Raoul"? In a symbolic way, as high school students at the time, we wanted to show that each of us had a piece of humanity in us, the same humanity that Raoul had. So we decided to name the organization "Find Raoul". It is necessary for each of us to find and raise the humanity which Raoul did.

There are no borders, barriers for us ... For us, all people are the same. The goal of Find Raoul NGO is to promote basic human rights and actively help the vulnerable, but also to promote young and talented people.

Couple of times a year, we are organizing actions to help people where we distribute packages with food, clothes and other needed items. We also help and support young and talented people by organizing events dedicated to them where they can talk about their talents and success in different fields.

"I grew up in a country that has suffered a lot through history. Unfortunately, my generation and I have suffered a great deal from poverty. We must not allow children in the present to suffer because of the same thing "- Jovan Milic, founder of the organization.
